Jerome Still Confident.

At Montreal Jerome will engage lawyers and continue the fight for Thaw's early deportation. He still believes that he will have Thaw over the border within a fortnight, and will devise ways and means to combat the latest move of the Thaw lawyers in securing a writ of habeas corpus returnable September 15.

Jerome thinks that the Minister of Justice or Premier Borden has power to order the immediate execution of the road in the last ten years. Having miked it, they now retire. I do not know what the object is.

"This does not necessarily mean a great property, and its securities at the bottom are valuable. I would as soon thinks that the Minister of Justice or Premier Borden has power to buy in a lot of them at a lower figure, as anything."

There was a strong probability of a final vote Monday night. It was made almost a certainty today that the Democratic radical revision bill would be passed, as it now is framed after four months of discussion in the Senate. Confident of cussion in the Senate. Confident of solid Democratic support, except for the votes of Senators Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, who boiled for free sugar, the Democratic leaders were given additional ground to-day to hope for support from some progressive Republicans. A few days ago, when the vote of a Democratic Senator was reported to be in doubt, one of the leading supporters of the additional supporters of the additional supporters of the additional supporters of the additional supporters. of the leading supporters of the ad-ministration asserted it made no difference what his colleague did, the party had assurances of support from the minority. Some of the leaders to-night predicted the bill would pass with a majority of four or five votes. Party Harmony Restored.

After the Democratic caucus, which extended into the early hours this morning, all obstacles in the way of party harmony had been removed.

An important development of the day was the striking from the bill by order of the Finance Committee of the States on the Bounty of struction in North Carolina countervailing duty on wood pulp, a provision designated as retaliation against Canada for wood pulp re-strictions. The free leather paragraph was amended to make sure the free importation of all leathers. Many other minor details were disposed of. Prolonged discussion developed over

Agree on Income Tax.

Amendments to the income tax section as agreed upon in the Democratic caucus, were made practically without debates. The chief amendment increases the income tax rate from the limit of the original House bill and makes the total income tax amount to 1 per cent on incomes from $3,000 to $20,000; 2 per cent from $20,000 to $50,-(Continued on Second Page.)

Carters' Harvest

Not only does the farmer gather in his harvest in the early fall, but the carter can also lay by his winter hoard if he only goes about it in the right way.

If you are a carter or a mover, there is not the least excuse for your being idle a single day this beautiful month of September, for, with families moving from country and seashore and mountains into town, and many city folk moving from house to house and flat to flat, the big moving companies have their hands full and there is more than enough work for all.

Put your announcements in The Times-Dispatch Wants right away and run them two or three times a week; see how fast work will come to you. You'll have more orders than you can fill in a lifty.

Let the Want Columns help you and you will not fail to reap a golden harvest this September.

Need Not Linger.

The adoption of this policy resulted from the possibility that many Americans would needlessly linger in the trouble-torn districts unless every facility for their departure was afforded. Some Washington officials commented for the first time on Provisional President Huerta's declaration that if the American government was reticent to give the refugees first-class transportation he gladly would do so. These officials, instead of resenting the statement, regarded it as an act of generosity and remarked that they hoped Senor Huerta's beneficence will be extended to repay Americans and other foreigners for the great losses their investments had sustained through the chaotic conditions resulting from Huerta's irregular assumption of governmental power.
